Australian Statutory Declaration stating you have permanently emigrated to New Zealand

A full list of authorised persons who can witness the Australian statutory declaration can be obtained from the Australian Attorney-General's Department website www.ag.gov.au/

If you are completing the statutory declaration overseas the witness must:

- fall within one of the categories on the list of authorised witnesses, and
- have a connection to Australia

Generally, if an individual's occupation can be found on the Attorney-General's list of authorised witnesses and they perform that occupation within Australia and its territories they will be considered an authorised witness and may witness a Commonwealth of Australia Statutory Declaration overseas. For example, a member of a police force in Australia has a connection to Australia and therefore may witness a Commonwealth statutory declaration overseas. However, a police officer of a foreign police force does not possess an appropriate connection to Australia and therefore cannot witness a Commonwealth statutory declaration. If you are uncertain whether an individual is an authorised witness please contact us on 1800 677 442 or the Commonwealth of Australia's Attorney-General's Department.
