MARKET COMMENTARY

Australian equities ended the March quarter lower -2.85% despite a strong rally in January driven by Financials and improved economic data. Optimism faded in February as earnings season brought volatility, with cautious outlooks triggering sharp declines in several large-cap names. Defensive sectors like Utilities held up, while growth sectors such as Technology and Healthcare lagged. March saw further weakness as concerns over US tariffs, political uncertainty, and a widening federal deficit weighed on sentiment. While the RBA's February rate cut lifted consumer and business confidence modestly, these gains were overshadowed by broader macroeconomic risks. Overall, the quarter reflected a sharp shift in sentiment—from early enthusiasm to growing caution—highlighting increased investor sensitivity to both domestic and global developments. Information Technology was the worst performing sector down -18.2% over the period while Industrials was the best performing up 2.5%.

PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

The portfolio's largest overweight positions include Flutter Entertainment PLC, EVT Limited and BlueScope Steel Limited. Conversely, the portfolio's largest underweight positions include Commonwealth Bank of Australia, BHP Group Ltd and CSL Limited, all of which are not held in the portfolio.

A2 Milk strongly contributed to portfolio performance over the quarter (+38.5%) after reporting a healthy result in February. The management team has proven its ability to execute strategically through supply constraints and other external and market headwinds. The company reported a stronger than expected first half 25 result and Financial Year 2025 guidance was upgraded and implies that A2 Milk sales and margins will accelerate and expand further in the second half of the year. We remain optimistic about A2 Milk, given its strong balance sheet, ongoing expansion into tier 2 and 3 cities in China, as well as its entry into the U.S., all of which present substantial growth opportunities.

Despite significant volatility in Steel over the quarter, BlueScope Steel contributed to performance up 15.3% as the company outlined its medium-term plan which outlined Free Cash Flow stepping up materially from FY27. We were encouraged by management delaying midstream investment options which we believe could allow the firm to take advantage of opportunistic situations. In the US, Steel pricing has reached a level where there is an asymmetric upside potential, and we are observing positive competitive trends with hot-rolled coil steel prices increasing. BlueScope remains one of the highest quality steel producers globally, with a capable management team, a significant asset in Port Kembla, and the Colorbond brand, which not only boosts margins but also represents a substantial overseas opportunity.

Orora detracted from portfolio performance in the March quarter, falling -21.8% despite ongoing share buybacks. The company delivered a disappointing first-half result, highlighting a weak near-term demand outlook through a closure of a significant plant and was caught up in added uncertainty from US tariffs. We initially built an overweight position when analyst forecasts began to better reflect the risks of the Saverglass acquisition. At that point, we believed investors were paying fair value for the core Australasian and North American businesses, with Saverglass effectively acquired at a discount. Assuming the sale of the North American business proceeds as expected, we see investors left with a high-quality global packaging platform and a relatively under-gearred balance sheet, positioning the Board to consider capital management opportunities.

The overweight position in Iluka Resources detracted from performance over the March quarter (-22.4%) off the back of an unloved update to the market in January. The company updated the market with ongoing soft zircon sales and a commitment to inject capital into the rare earth refinery where the market was expecting a less capital intensive outcome. Iluka is a major producer of rutile and synthetic rutile that is used to produce pigment (paint) and largest producer of zircon that is used to produce ceramics (tiles) and a recovery in these markets can be met by releasing excess inventory and reducing working capital before production is restarted. Iluka has a very strong balance sheet (net cash) and also owns a valuable stake in Deterra Royalties, which was spun-off in an IPO so is able to buffer these periods of demand distortion that is a feature of these markets.

OUTLOOK

Initial market optimism was buoyed by the new administration's promises of tax and spending cuts, deregulation, and increased energy production—policies broadly viewed as supportive of growth. Early fears surrounding tariffs were largely dismissed as strategic posturing aimed at renegotiating global trade terms, particularly in response to perceived unfair practices. However, sentiment has shifted as it becomes increasingly clear that President Trump's commitment to protectionist measures may be more deeply rooted than previously believed. The risk now lies not only in the imposition of tariffs themselves, but in the potential for their execution to be disorderly and more economically disruptive than anticipated. Until markets gain greater clarity on the long-term direction of policy, volatility is likely to remain elevated.
