About this document

This Target Market Determination (TMD) is required under section 994B of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) (the Act). This TMD describes the class of consumers that comprises the target market for the financial product and matters relevant to the product's distribution and review (specifically, distribution conditions, review triggers and periods, and reporting requirements). Distributors must take reasonable steps that will, or are reasonably likely to, result in distribution of the product being consistent with the most recent TMD (unless the distribution is excluded conduct).

This document is not a Product Disclosure Statement (PDS), and is not a complete summary of the product features or terms of the product. This document does not take into account any person's individual objectives, financial situation or needs. Persons interested in acquiring this product should carefully read the PDS for the product before making a decision whether to buy this product.

Important terms used in this TMD are defined in the TMD Definitions which supplement this document. Capitalised terms have the meaning given to them in the product's PDS, unless otherwise defined. The PDS can be obtained at www.perpetual.com.au.

Consumer selected investment options

This section provides information on the investment options offered in the Perpetual WealthFocus Investment Advantage Fund (the Fund). For information on the specific risks of the investment options, please refer to the PDS.

The specific risks of one of the options, Perpetual Geared Australian, are given below. This is because it has a very high or extremely high risk and return profile, with the potential for significant volatility and losses.

Perpetual Geared Australian

The Perpetual Geared Australian investment option is designed for consumers who:

- are seeking capital growth
- are intending to use the investment option as a satellite allocation within a portfolio
- have a minimum investment timeframe of 7 years or longer
- have a very high or extremely high risk and return profile

Specific risks associated with this investment option include:

Investment Volatility Risk: The risk there is a high level of volatility in the value of your investment, so the value of your investment may vary significantly from day to day.

Drawdown Risk: The steep decline in value of a single investment or an investment portfolio from a relative peak.

Gearing Risk: With gearing, the investment manager borrows money from a lender to increase the amount the investment option can invest. While this can result in larger investment gains in a rising market, it is also likely to magnify losses in a falling market. Gearing increases the volatility of a fund's investment returns. Consequently, a geared investment option is considered to have a higher investment risk than a comparable investment option that is ungeared.

Concentration Risk: Investing in an investment option with a smaller number of investments or exposure to solely one asset class such as Australian Shares may lead to more volatile returns than investing in a fund with a more diversified portfolio with a larger number of positions or exposure to multiple asset classes.

We consider the investment option is most suitable for consumers who have a very high or extremely high risk and return profile and:

- are seeking an investment option that has low diversification
- are seeking to maximise returns
- can accept higher potential losses, especially in the short-term, and
- are comfortable with the aforementioned specific risks associated with the investment option

Investment options and diversification

A consumer (or class of consumer) may intend to hold an investment option as part of a diversified portfolio (for example, with an intended option use of minor allocation). In such circumstances, the investment option should be assessed against the consumer's attributes for the relevant portion of the portfolio, rather than the consumer's portfolio as a whole. For example, a consumer may seek to construct a balanced or moderate diversified portfolio with a minor allocation to growth assets. In this case, an investment option with a High risk/return profile may be consistent with the consumer's objectives for that minor allocation notwithstanding that the risk/return profile of the consumer as a whole is Medium. In making this assessment, distributors should consider all features of a product (including its key attributes).

The FSC has provided more detailed guidance on how to take this portfolio view for diversification, available on the FSC website. <https://www.fsc.org.au/>. This guidance only applies where an investment option is held as part of an appropriately diversified portfolio.

The table shows the asset class and suggested minimum investment timeframe for each investment option.

1. The Perpetual Diversified Real Return investment option may be suitable for consumers who seek to invest their capital for a minimum timeframe of two years when the consumer is using the option to seek to minimise downside risk.

Other elements of TMD

Appropriateness requirements

Explanation of consistency of key attributes with TMD

The Perpetual WealthFocus Investment Advantage (the Fund) is a simple to use investment product, designed for advised or self-directed consumers looking to invest to grow their wealth.

The Fund offers a range of investment options (which have different levels of risk and are designed to generate investment returns in different ways, over different timeframes and from different asset classes) enabling consumers to select the investment option(s) that most closely meet their own particular needs and circumstances.

Consumers also have the flexibility to change their investment selection as their needs and circumstances change over time. With a diversified range of investment options and asset classes, it may be suitable for consumers across a range of risk profiles and investment horizons.

Consumers seeking to choose from a limited investment menu may choose to invest in multi-asset class options that are classified by risk (conservative, balanced and growth) that are suitable as a stand-alone solution.

The Fund offers consumers a range of investment options held in a single unit in a single fund. This offers three capital gains tax benefits:

- changes to a consumer's portfolio structure doesn't constitute a CGT event – there is no capital gains tax on switches.
- additional investments don't alter the acquisition date of a unit – the capital gains tax discount (where applicable) is available after 12 months from the date of the initial investment.
- partial withdrawals are cost base adjustments – there is no capital gains tax on partial withdrawals until withdrawals exceed the cost base of the unit.

The choice and flexibility offered by the Fund, and the potential for capital gains tax benefits, make it suited for consumers seeking to select their investment options as suited to their own particular needs and circumstances. Consumers may do this independently or with the assistance of their financial adviser.

Distribution information

Distribution Conditions / Restrictions

The following distribution conditions apply to the Fund. Additional distribution conditions apply to the Perpetual Geared Australian investment option, as detailed over the page.

Channel	Distribution condition	Rationale
Non-advised	Non-advised – via the issuer’s website www.perpetual.com.au , including online and physical application forms. For a consumer to access the product directly, they must read and accept the PDS. Consumers applying via the online application form will be asked a series of questions to assist the Issuer in understanding whether a significant dealing has occurred.	It has been determined that the distribution conditions and restrictions will make it likely that customers who purchase the product are in the class of customers for which it has been designed. We consider that the distribution conditions are appropriate and will assist distribution in being directed towards the target market for whom the product has been designed.
Advised	Distributors may only engage in retail product distribution conduct if:- <ul style="list-style-type: none">• They are providing personal advice in relation to the product;• Via financial advisers where consumers have received personal advice For a consumer to access the product directly, they must read and accept the PDS. Distributors should only engage in retail product distribution conduct if they are reasonably satisfied that distribution is necessary to implement personal advice given to the consumer.	The Issuer considers that the distribution condition will make it likely that consumers who acquire the product will be in the target market for the product, or the product will otherwise be appropriate for them, because: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Persons providing personal advice must consider the consumer’s individual circumstances and comply with the best interests’ duty and related obligations under Pt 7.7A of the Corporations Act.

Distribution Conditions - Perpetual Geared Australian investment option

Where a review trigger has occurred, this target market determination will be reviewed within 10 business days.

Definitions

In some instances, examples have been provided below. These examples are indicative only and not exhaustive.

Term	Definition
Consumer's intended option use (% of investment)
Capital growth	The consumer seeks to invest in an investment option designed or expected to generate capital return over the investment timeframe. The consumer prefers exposure to growth assets (such as shares or property) or otherwise seeks an investment return above the current inflation rate.
Capital preservation	The consumer seeks to invest in an investment option designed or expected to have low volatility and minimise capital loss. The consumer prefers exposure to defensive assets that are generally lower in risk and less volatile than growth investments (this may include cash or fixed income securities).
Income distribution	The consumer seeks to invest in an investment option designed or expected to distribute regular and/or tax-effective income. The consumer prefers exposure to income-generating assets (this may include, high dividend-yielding equities, fixed income securities and money market instruments).
Term	Definition
Consumer's intended option use (% of investable assets)
Solution/Standalone (up to 100%)	The consumer may hold the investment option as up to 100% of their total investable assets. The consumer is likely to seek an option with very high portfolio diversification.
Major allocation (up to 75%)	The consumer may hold the investment option as up to 75% of their total investable assets. The consumer is likely to seek an option with at least high portfolio diversification.
Core Component (up to 50%)	The consumer may hold the investment option as up to 50% of their total investable assets. The consumer is likely to seek an option with at least medium portfolio diversification.
Minor allocation (up to 25%)	The consumer may hold the investment option as up to 25% of their total investable assets. The consumer is likely to seek an option with at least low portfolio diversification.
Satellite allocation (up to 10%)	The consumer may hold the investment option as up to 10% of the total investable assets. The consumer may seek an option with very low portfolio diversification. Options classified as extremely high risk are likely to meet this category only.
Investable Assets.	Those assets that the investor has available for investment, excluding the residential home.
Portfolio diversification (for completing the option attribute section of consumer's intended product use)
Note: exposures to cash and cash-like instruments may sit outside the diversification framework below.
Very low	The option provides exposure to a single asset (for example, a commercial property) or a niche asset class (for example, minor commodities, crypto-assets or collectibles).

Term	Definition
Low	The option provides exposure to a small number of holdings (for example, fewer than 25 securities) or a narrow asset class, sector or geographic market (for example, a single major commodity (e.g. gold) or equities from a single emerging market economy).
Medium	The option provides exposure to a moderate number of holdings (for example, up to 50 securities) in at least one broad asset class, sector or geographic market (for example, Australian fixed income securities or global natural resources).
High	The option provides exposure to a large number of holdings (for example, over 50 securities) in multiple broad asset classes, sectors or geographic markets (for example, global equities).
Very high	The option provides exposure to a large number of holdings across a broad range of asset classes, sectors and geographic markets with limited correlation to each other.
Consumer's intended investment timeframe
Minimum	The minimum suggested timeframe for holding the option. Typically, this is the rolling period over which the investment objective of the option is likely to be achieved.
Consumer's Risk (ability to bear loss) and Return profile
This TMD uses the Standard Risk Measure (SRM) to estimate the likely number of negative annual returns for an option over a 20 year period, using the guidance and methodology outlined in the Standard Risk Measure Guidance Paper For Trustees (note the bands in the SRM guidance differ from the bands used in this TMD). However, SRM is not a complete assessment of risk and potential loss. For example, it does not detail important issues such as the potential size of a negative return (including under conditions of market stress) or that a positive return could still be less than a consumer requires to meet their investment objectives/needs. The SRM methodology may be supplemented by other risk factors. For example, some options may have other risk factors which result from, for example, the use of leverage, derivatives or short selling; liquidity or withdrawal limitations; may have underlying investments with valuation risks or risks of capital loss; or otherwise may have a complex structure or increased investment risks, which should be documented together with the SRM to substantiate the product risk rating. A consumer's desired product return profile would generally take into account the impact of fees, costs and taxes.
Low	For the relevant part of the consumer's portfolio, the consumer: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • has a conservative or low risk appetite, • seeks to minimise volatility and potential losses (e.g. has the ability to bear up to 1 negative return over a 20 year period (SRM 1 to 2)), and • is comfortable with a low target return profile. The consumer typically prefers stable, defensive assets (such as cash).
Medium	For the relevant part of the consumer's portfolio, the consumer: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • has a moderate or medium risk appetite, • seeks low volatility and potential losses (e.g. has the ability to bear up to 4 negative returns over a 20 year period (SRM 3 to 5)), and • is comfortable with a moderate target return profile. The consumer typically prefers defensive assets (for example, fixed income).

High	For the relevant part of the consumer's portfolio, the consumer: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • has a high risk appetite, • can accept high volatility and potential losses (e.g. has the ability to bear up to 6 negative returns over a 20 year period (SRM 5 or 6)), and • seeks high returns (typically over a medium or long timeframe). The consumer typically prefers growth assets (for example, shares and property).
Very high	For the relevant part of the consumer's portfolio, the consumer: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • has a very high risk appetite, • can accept very high volatility and potential losses (e.g. has the ability to bear 6 to 7 negative returns over a 20 year period (SRM 6 or 7)), and • seeks to maximise returns (typically over a medium or long timeframe). The consumer typically prefers high growth assets (such as high conviction portfolios, hedge funds, and alternative investments).
Extremely high	For the relevant part of the consumer's portfolio, the consumer: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • has an extremely high risk appetite, • can accept significant volatility and losses, and • seeks to obtain accelerated returns (potentially in a short timeframe). The consumer seeks extremely high risk, speculative or complex options which may have features such as significant use of derivatives, leverage or short positions or may be in emerging or niche asset classes (for example, crypto-assets or collectibles).
Consumer's need to access capital
This consumer attribute addresses the likely period of time between the making of a request for redemption of an option (or access to investment proceeds from an option more generally) and the proceeds from this request are applied to the consumer's account under ordinary circumstances.

Term	Definition
Distributor reporting
Significant dealings	Section 994F(6) of the Act requires distributors to notify the issuer if they become aware of a significant dealing in the product that is not consistent with the TMD. Neither the Act nor ASIC defines when a dealing is 'significant' and distributors have discretion to apply its ordinary meaning. The issuer will rely on notifications of significant dealings to monitor and review the product, this TMD, and its distribution strategy, and to meet its own obligation to report significant dealings to ASIC. Dealings outside this TMD may be significant because: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • they represent a material proportion of the overall distribution conduct carried out by the distributor in relation to the product, or • they constitute an individual transaction which has resulted in, or will or is likely to result in, significant detriment to the consumer (or class of consumers). In each case, the distributor should have regard to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the nature and risk profile of the product (which may be indicated by the product's risk rating or withdrawal timeframes), • the actual or potential harm to a consumer (which may be indicated by the value of the consumer's investment, their intended product use or their ability to bear loss), and • the nature and extent of the inconsistency of distribution with the TMD (which may be indicated by the number of red ratings attributed to the consumer). Objectively, a distributor may consider a dealing (or group of dealings) outside the TMD to be significant if: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • it constitutes more than half of the distributor's total retail product distribution conduct in relation to the product over the quarter, • the consumer's intended investment option use is solution/standalone • the consumer's intended investment option use is core component or higher and the consumer's risk/return profile is low, or • the relevant investment option has a green rating for consumers seeking extremely high risk/return.
